

Applications are invited for the post of Editor for a new online journal:

Health Psychology & Behavioral Medicine: an Open Access Journal

Health Psychology & Behavioral Medicine: an Open Access Journal (HPBM) is an innovative new Routledge publication launching in January 2012, part of the exciting new Taylor & Francis Open programme of high quality and rigorously reviewed fully open access journals from T&F across a range of disciplines in science, social and behavioral sciences and the humanities. The open access model means they will be fully and permanently open to access online immediately upon publication, enabling anyone to read, download and share that research.

Taylor & Francis Open is committed to publishing original, high quality research and all HPBM articles will be subjected to rigorous peer review. As such, the journal is inviting applications for an Editor who will ensure that these standards are upheld. The Editor will be responsible for the peer review process, which is managed through ScholarOne Manuscripts online submission system (full training provided), and for making final decision on all papers. They will also liaise with our Production team to ensure rapid online publication of all accepted papers.

In line with the open access publishing model, an article processing fee for each accepted paper is applied. This process is managed through ScholarOne Manuscripts, on acceptance of the article, and administered by the publisher, keeping it completely separate from the peer review process. This will ensure that you can maintain the integrity of the journal's peer review process, which we feel is essential.

HPBM will be supported by our existing highly successful portfolio of health psychology and behavioral medicine journals, from which HPBM may receive papers that the Editors of those journals refer to HPBM if deemed of high quality but unsuitable for publication for any reason, such as being out of scope or simply due to the large volume of high quality papers currently being submitted to those journals. Acceptance of these articles will be subject to peer review by the Editor of HPBM, and final decision is at the Reviewers' and Editor's discretion, as with all submitted manuscripts. Authors referred to the journal in this way, if their article is accepted, will be offered a discount on the article processing fee.

The Editor will also assist the Publisher in recruiting an Editorial Board and additional reviewers for the new journal, and promoting the journal to their colleagues and networks to support the international marketing exposure provided by Routledge.

Some financial support is available to the Editor, further details provided on application.
