A large number of journal articles are available via iFirst. iFirst is Taylor & Francis' proprietary early-online-publication system, which makes new knowledge available to researchers in the shortest possible time.

Accepted articles are copy-edited and typeset and are published in a 'forthcoming articles' list on the journal's webpage. They are identical to the print edition in every way except that they lack page spans. These 'forthcoming articles' are later assigned to a particular issue of the journal and given page numbers. All subscribers with electronic access to a journal can access iFirst articles.

ANTHROPOLOGY & MEDICINE

FOUNDING EDITOR:

Sushrut Jadhav, University College London, UK

Volume 17 • 3 issues per year

Print ISSN: 1364-8470 • Online ISSN: 1469-2910

Anthropology & Medicine is an interdisciplinary journal which expands upon the growing theory and research linking anthropology with medicine. It publishes original papers and reviews within the broad framework of medical anthropology, for a world-wide readership.

Whilst biomedicine continues to grow in its technological sophistication and a proliferation of disease categories, anthropology has extended its boundaries to embrace newer frameworks. The globalisation and politics of biomedicine, narrative approaches to illness, new reproductive technologies, indigenous African and Asian medicines, local critiques of professional healing systems, modern and post-modern identities of individual states and their impact on sickness, together with developments that link ethology and population genetics to medicine are examples of topics addressed by the journal.

ANXIETY, STRESS, & COPING

An International Journal

Official Journal of the Stress and Anxiety Research Society

Included in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences Citation Index®

Indexed in MEDLINE

EDITORS-IN-CHIEF:

Aleksandra Luszczynska, Warsaw School of Social Psychology, Poland and

Joachim Stoeber, University of Kent, UK

Volume 23 • 5 issues per year

Print ISSN: 1061-5806 • Online ISSN: 1477-2205

This journal provides a forum for scientific, theoretically important, and clinically significant research reports and conceptual contributions. It deals not only with the assessment of anxiety, stress, and coping, and with experimental and field studies on anxiety dimensions and stress and coping processes, but also with related topics such as the antecedents and consequences of stress and emotion. We also encourage submissions contributing to the understanding of the relationship between psychological and physiological processes, specific for stress and anxiety. Manuscripts should report novel findings that are of interest to an international readership. While the journal is open to a diversity of articles, it is primarily interested in well-designed, methodologically sound research reports, theoretical papers, and interpretative literature reviews or meta-analyses.

JOURNAL OF INFANT, CHILD, AND ADOLESCENT PSYCHOTHERAPY

EDITOR:

Kirkland C. Vaughns, New York, USA

Volume 9 • 4 issues per year

Print ISSN: 1528-9168 • Online ISSN: 1940-9214

The journal provides child psychotherapists with a psychodynamically based forum dedicated to the individual, familial, and societal dimensions of child and adolescent treatment. The journal comes from child therapists who are themselves in the trenches and are intent on providing real-world coverage of the complicated real-world issues that commonly intrude on therapeutic work with children. From the impact of attachment research on child therapy: to the treatment of self pathology in childhood; from therapeutic issues attendant to foster care and divorce; to the role of parent work in child and adolescent treatment; to the special therapeutic challenges posed by adolescent substance abuse – JICAP provides a comprehensive overview of child therapy as it is conceptualized and practiced in the 21st century.

PSYCHOANALYTIC DIALOGUES

Included in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences Citation Index®

EDITORS:

Anthony Bass, Stephen Cooper and Stephen Seligman

Volume 20 • 6 Issues per year

Print ISSN: 1048-1885 • Online ISSN: 1940-9222

Psychoanalytic Dialogues was founded on the premise that within the diverse world of psychoanalysis there had developed a set of overlapping perspectives that regarded relational configurations of self and others, real and fantasized, as the primary units of human motivation and psychodynamic explanation. This common relational model has come to provide a vitalizing framework within which clinical contributions can be situated and developed. Psychoanalytic Dialogues is dedicated to facilitating debate among theoreticians and clinicians working within this array of relational perspectives all in the interest of enhancing our understanding of the intricate richness of the psychoanalytic process.

PSYCHOSIS:

Psychological, Social and Integrative Approaches

Official Journal of the International Society for the Psychological Treatment of the Schizophrenias and other Psychoses

EDITOR:

John Read, University of Auckland, New Zealand

Volume 2 • 3 issues per year

Print ISSN: 1752-2439 • Online ISSN: 1752-2447

Psychosis: Psychological, Social and Integrative Approaches fills an important gap in mental health literature, namely research focused on the psychological treatments of psychosis (e.g. cognitive-behaviour therapy, psychodynamic therapy, family therapy etc.) and the psycho-social causes of psychosis (e.g. poverty, drug abuse, child abuse and neglect, distressed families, urban living, discrimination, rape, war combat etc.).

The journal publishes papers on both quantitative research (e.g. rigorously designed outcome studies and epidemiological surveys) and qualitative research (e.g. case studies of therapy, first-person accounts of psychosis and experiences of people with psychosis in the mental health system), as well as papers focusing on conceptual and ethical issues.
